

ACC Family,

Gillian and I would like to express our sincerest Season's Greetings to you and your families at this special time of year and say thank you for your dedicated service to our Air Force.

I know you are all looking forward to enjoying some time away from work, please take advantage of this time to hug your family and friends and tell them how much they mean to you.

While this time of year is very joyous for most, it can also be hard on others. With that in mind, I ask that you look out for those around you. If you find anyone who needs help this season, please reach out to them, make sure they know we are here to help them and take advantage of the many resources available. Be a great wingman.

Since many of you plan to travel this holiday season, I would ask that you take a moment to ensure that you, your family and your vehicle are ready for the trip. The roads can be treacherous this time of year, and we cannot afford to lose even a single person to a preventable accident. Always buckle up, don't speed, never drive while impaired, and take care of those around you.

Enjoy the holiday season, cherish your time with friends and family, and come back ready for the challenges of 2015. Again, thank you for your incredible service, your Nation needs you now more than ever, Blessings and Thanks to you all,

General Hawk Carlisle
Commander, ACC
